

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to apply for the Director of Software Project Management position. My extensive experience in establishing project management functions and leading complex software delivery programs, particularly within the pharmaceutical sector and with AI-driven projects, makes me a strong candidate to build and lead your project management function.

I have a proven track record of creating and embedding robust operational frameworks. At Dufry AG, I established a global PMO from the ground up and managed an enterprise-wide ServiceNow implementation using the Agile SCRUM methodology. My expertise lies in creating scalable governance and tailoring agile practices to accelerate both software development and research lifecycles, as required for your technical and research teams.

My leadership is well-suited to your fast-paced, product-driven environment. I have successfully led high-stakes programs, including two major post-merger IT integrations that delivered over CHF 120 million in first-year synergies. My background with Novartis provides me with critical industry context, aligning my technical program leadership with your core mission in the tech-bio space.

I am confident in my ability to establish the culture of project management excellence needed to ensure your innovative projects are delivered efficiently. I am eager to discuss how my skills in vendor management, C-level reporting, and team coaching can contribute to your success.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Rajeev Sharma